Warren Grynberg : City of Westminster: Photographs and Postcards From The Archives of Judges of Hastings Ltd before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised City of Westminster: Photographs and Postcards From The Archives of Judges of Hastings Ltd:

London is the largest capital city in Europe, and is more than just one city. London is two very different cities. To the east is the City of London, the financial city where London began 2,000 years ago. To the west is the City of Westminster, the city of government, religion and entertainment, with many theatres, cinemas, cafés, restaurants and pubs, shopping, and most importantly, 1,000 years of history. Westminster is where tourists flock before they venture east to the City of London to soak up even more history. At the beginning of the twentieth century Westminster was a far cry from how it is today. Discover how it once was through the camera lens of Fred Judge and his postcards. Fred was known to his friends and colleagues as 'The Postcard Man'.

About the Author Warren Grynberg is a London Blue Badge guide, City of London guide and the author of two books on the history of the City of London. He has one of the largest private collections of Fred Judges' London series of postcards.
