I will loan it to friends.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. collectors need thisBy N. Gomesa great book with so much information and excellent guides for identifying pieces..for serious collectors this book is a must have.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Terrific resource/coffee table bookBy Cuppa TeaGood introductory material including a description of the difference between earthenware, stoneware, porcelain, and whiteware. Has many pictures of the items and their marks, is a great resource for dating and pricing some of my collection.To add a little information: on page 50 it shows a Perfect mark in a banner. Text says "has been attributed to Dresden Pottery, though some question this association because it is so unlike Dresden's other marks."I have a pretty gravy boat marked Perfect in a circle with NCC script, from the National

China Company. In 1910 National China Company sold its factory and bought Dresden (in Ohio, not Germany). So, I believe the Perfect mark in the book is Dresden (carrying Perfect over from the National China Company). As you can see, the book leads you down interesting research paths.
