C L Miller : Door-To-Door Collectibles: Salves, Lotions, Pills, Potions from W.T. Rawleigh (Schiffer Book for Collectors) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Door-To-Door Collectibles: Salves, Lotions, Pills, Potions from W.T. Rawleigh (Schiffer Book for Collectors):

5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Rawleigh Door to Door Collectibles By Raleigh H. Abell This is a highly informative book for anyone who collects the Rawleigh products. It is full of the history of the company as well as lots of pictures of the products. It also has value listings for most of the products. I would recommend this book to all.

In this comprehensive text, C.L. Miller chronicles the long history and many products of America's best known home delivery company. W.T. Rawleigh Company collectibles are presented here in over 590 photographs and advertising images. This vast array of packages, tins, bottles, and notions of all sorts begins with William T. Rawleigh's original 1889 products and continues up through the Rawleigh Company's late twentieth century product lines. Included are many old-time essentials for the home and farm, such as medicines "for man and beast," food products, spices and extracts, cosmetics, toiletries, brushes, cookbooks, calendars, and the Rawleigh Good Health Guides and Almanacs. Also provided in this colorful and informative guide are helpful hints on locating and evaluating Rawleigh products, the proper care of those collectibles, and prices for the items themselves. This book will be a delight for everyone interested in the home delivery products of days-gone-by.

About the Author C.L. Miller is a long time collector of W.T. Rawleigh and Jewel Tea Company products. He is a freelance writer and the author of three additional books on the Jewel Tea Company available from Schiffer Publishing.
